

A Song For You

last night I cried, cause I`ve lost someone Someone I really loved, so that`s why I`m a bit sad
But You heard my cries and came to carry me
That`s why I did this tiny little song for You

`cause You send me the sun when I feel blue
You send me the moon to light up my way
You rescued me from the place I would be right now

Day after day everything in this crazy world is changing
But You are the one who always stays and You won`t ever change Your love to me
And when I have something special to say
You are there in a crowd and being proud of me
That`s why I did this tiny little song for You

You always have something to say to cheer me up
You have the softest hands that ever gave me a hug
You are my light, You are my strenght
That`s why I`m standing on bended knee and begging You to teach me how to love You more I left my heart wide open
For you, only for you...

Last night You`ve heard my cries
And came to carry me
That`s why I did, this tiny little song for You...
